WILL SPAIN BE NEXT?

Spain is gaining new cases fast

Spain is gaining new cases, and fast. With 3,835 new cases today, will it go over Italy?

We suspect it will be the next because it is very close to Italy, with only France in between, and after Spain we think it will be Portugal and France, since France is in between Italy and Spain, and Portugal is only touching Spain.

On the map to the left, you can see where Spain is.

The big country to the right is France, and the one to the left is Portugal.

You can see how easily the virus can spread.

CHINA REPORTS NO DEATHS!

For the first time since January, China has no new deaths

China

For the first time since January, China reports no deaths. This is a huge milestone!

China was the country from which the COVID-19 virus started, in a city called Wuhan. This proves that, even though it's hard, the virus can be killed.

This does not mean it will stay this way. What it means is, that with enough patience, you can stop it!

China did not do this easily. A total lockdown in Wuhan for a month is one of the reasons this happened.

This proves that if we stay in a total lockdown for a month, we can defeat the virus!
